

MOB WITH A NOOSE AFTER A MARSHAL.

STRIKING IRON MINERS WANT REVENGE.

Marshal Free Shoots a Miner and is Only Saved From Lynching by the Militia—Coke Workers' Riot in Pennsylvania Will Cost Several Lives.

DULUTH, Minn., May 5.—General Manager Philbin of the Duluth, Mesaba and Northern and Marshal Al Free, who fatally shot Mat Matson at Mountain Iron yesterday, arrived here at 12:50 o'clock. Free got off the train before it reached the station, hoping to keep the public in ignorance of his whereabouts. The mob had been at Virginia all day, conducting itself peaceably except for angry talk. In the afternoon a part of the mob went to Mountain Iron, but Sheriff Sharvy thought this was a bait to attract his attention from Virginia so that the strikers could again force out the men working there, so he kept his forces at Virginia. Last night Marshal Free had an encounter at Mountain Iron and claims that in self-defense he was obliged to shoot his assailant twice. The wounded man can not recover.

The receipt of this news at Virginia enraged the mob and they started overland to Mountain Iron to lynch Free, but were prevented by deputies and militia. The strikers cut the telegraph wire at midnight and there is no other communication. If further hostilities follow Tams Bixby is here to represent the governor.

Advices from Virginia indicate that the situation on the Mesaba Range is becoming critical. Sheriff Sharvy telegraphed here for fifty more deputies, which will make a force of over 100 on duty at the scene of the trouble. The strikers are ugly and are restless and nervous. They are mostly Finlanders and a desperate set. The strikers have practically decided that men will be allowed to work on properties that are being developed at $1.35 a day, and there is a probability that a compromise will be made at all the mines except the Franklin at that rate.

The men at the Franklin demand $1.65 and swear they will not work for less. There is no doubt that the men there have a real grievance. They receive only 20 cents a ton, which is not sufficient to pay their board, as most of them can make only 75 cents a day at that rate.

STRIKING COKE WORKERS SHOT.

Five Men and Two Women Wounded and Two Officers Fatally Hurt.

COUNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 5.—In a riot at the Painter works of the McClure Coke company yesterday between striking Poles, a small number of deputies, and a comparative few of the men at work at the Painter plant, Deputy Sheriff Sanford White and Chief Clerk Ewing B. Roddy were terribly beaten and are in a critical condition. Five men and two women on the strikers' side were shot and two of the men dangerously wounded.

Supt. White was brought to the hospital here and is thought will not survive. Ewing Roddy was also brought here and cared for. The foreigners were carried to the adjoining houses and cared for. Sheriff Richards of Fayette county is upon the scene of the battle with forty men armed with rifles, and has already arrested sixty-three persons, charged with being implicated in the riot. They are now on their way to Uniontown. A number of strikers were carried from the battlefield. One of these was shot through the thigh, another through both legs, and the third had a bad wound in the groin. White is suffering intense agony, and his recovery is yet a matter of doubt. Roddy is believed to have been fatally wounded.

The affair has caused the most intense excitement here. It is feared the foreigners will revenge the death of their countrymen, and that this is but the beginning of riots in all parts of the region. It would not be a surprise to the people here should the strikers resort to the use of dynamite to blow up the works. The strikers have adopted a code of signals by which they can be collected at any point in that vicinity on short notice. The men at Fort Hill who were forced out returned to work immediately after the mob had dispersed and are working under the protection of fifty guards. The formidable display of guns at Moyer also discouraged the mob of strikers there and they dispersed. The leading companies say they will start unless the Rainey works are closed down at once. Rainey is securing all the large contracts at handsome figures, and the other companies will not stand idly by and see themselves ruled out of the market. Two of the leading companies announce that they will start up all their works if in doing so they have to deputize half their men and ask for protection from the state troops.

ESCORTED BY THE MAYOR.

Strikers Fail to Close Staunton Mines—March at Peoria.

STAUNTON, Ill., May 5.—At a meeting of the miners working in the Consolidated Coal company's mines Nos. 6 and 7, a secret ballot was taken and out of the 500 miners at work here not one voted in favor of a strike. Yesterday 700 miners from Belleville, Glen Carbon and Mount Olive arrived for the purpose of taking the men out. Mayor Godfrey and a large number of citizens escorted the miners through the mob to their work, after which the latter dispersed, the leaders going to Clyde and Gillespie to agitate a strike there. It is reported that they will return with a force of men large enough to enforce the strike. J. A. Simpson, general manager of the Consolidated Coal company, said that the miners at Nos. 6 and 7 will surely work.

PEORIA, Ill., May 5.—The coal miners of Peoria county have agreed to quit until further notice. The men will assemble at Bartonville this morning and will first visit the co-operative mine at Bismarck, near Hollis. They will then go on to Pekin and force a mine there to suspend.

PANA, Ill., May 5.—A few more men were at work yesterday than Thursday. President J. W. Crawford of the United Mine Workers of Illinois addressed a large meeting at the opera house and succeeded in organizing the union 500 strong. An attempt was made by the strikers to prevent the men from going to work, but the guard of special police was too strong.

HILLSBORO, Ill., May 5.—A delegation of strikers from Pana, Coffeen and other places visited the Hillsboro mines yesterday to induce the men to go out. The sheriff, at the request of the mine owners, has summoned a posse of 100 citizens to be at the shaft this morning, as trouble is anticipated.

DENISON, Texas, May 5.—The miners in the Indian territory, who number 3,000, have been on a strike several weeks. The strikers are getting ugly and making demonstrations which have necessitated calling out the entire Indian police force. If any attempt is made to intimidate outsiders and nonunion men riot and bloodshed is sure to follow.

TACOMA, Wash., May 5.—All work at the mines of the Northern Pacific Coal company at Roslyn has been suspended indefinitely. The mine owners say they will fill the positions held by the miners by other men, as the orders they have must be filled.

TRINIDAD, Colo., May 5.—The coal miners' strike is reaching larger proportions hourly, and the present indications are that all the mines in this section will be closed by Saturday night.

SYMPATHY STRIKES IN ILLINOIS.

Three Hundred and Fifty Men Go Out at Bloomington—Mines Stopped.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 5.—The 350 miners of the McLean County Coal company quit work yesterday purely out of sympathy. The supply of coal in the city is nearly exhausted and a serious coal famine is threatened.

DECATUR, Ill., May 5.—The Decatur miners have voted to stop work until the strike comes to an end. They quit work through sympathy for fellow workmen on a strike.

LITCHFIELD, Ill., May 5.—All the miners, 100 in number, employed by the Litchfield Mining and Mercantile company in this city, went out on a strike at 1 o'clock yesterday noon.

ALTON, Ill., May 5.—The coal troubles have reached this city and the stoppage of all manufacturing industries is imminent. The mines near this city have been reopened to supply the local demand.

LA SALLE, Ill., May 5.—No electric cars are running between La Salle and Peru, owing to the coal famine. The miners here have organized a union, being a branch of the United Mine Workers.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 5.—The reports received from the mining districts of Illinois in the vicinity of this city show that but four mines are now being operated. In this city the question of supply is the all important one. As a general rule, according to close inquiry, factories have two or three weeks' reserve on hand. After that nothing.

SAYS STRIKERS HAVE WON.

McBride Claims They Will Dictate Terms to Operators.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 5.—When President McBride returned to the city from the conference with coal operators at Pittsburg he said: "There will be no settlement or agreement of any sort unless every operator in the Pittsburg and every other district is present or represented at the Cleveland meeting. The United Mine Workers will dictate terms and they must be accepted or the strike will go on." A special dispatch from Straitsville, the heart of the Hocking Valley, says: "The coal famine has struck this section of the country. The mine owners are in daily receipt of telegrams begging for coal and offering fabulous prices. A few operators have small quantities still on hand and are not anxious to dispose of it, being content to wait until the limit goes to the ceiling."

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 5.—The strike situation looks somewhat improved from the operators' standpoint. Negroes are taking striking miners' places and no trouble is reported.

JELICO, Tenn., May 5.—Every miner is out here. The success of the suspension in the Jellico region depends on the action of the Coal Creek miners.

Peculiar Fatal Accident.

SCOTTSVILLE, Pa., May 5.—At Leisenring No. 3 coke works Wednesday night Daniel Cronan, a deputy sheriff, went to his mother's house to get a lunch. He rested his rifle against a table. The gun was accidentally discharged, and the bullet passed up through the ceiling and through the body of his mother, who was in her bed directly overhead. Mrs. Cronan died last evening. She was the mother of a large family.

MANY WERE HURT BY A WATER SPOUT.

ACCIDENT AT OLIVETT, KAN.— SAS GROWS MORE SERIOUS.

Ice Fell in Big Chunks Devastating the Crops, Braining Cattle and Severely Injuring a Number of People Who Were Exposed to the Fury of the Storm.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 5.—[Special]—The water spout last night at Olivett, Lyon county, was more serious than was at first supposed. A number of people were seriously injured. The accident came in a storm, when the water-spout broke, flooding the country and ruining crops. The devastation of the water was increased by an unparalleled ice storm. Ice formed as it fell, twelve inches in circumference that killed cattle and ruined crops. In this town every window pane was shattered.

JENKINS' RULING IN FULL.

Text of the Congressional Committee's Remarks on His Northern Pacific Order.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Chairman Boater of the congressional committee appointed to investigate the Northern Pacific railroad injunctions of Judge Jenkins submitted the majority report of the committee to the house yesterday signed by himself and Representative Terry. After reciting the circumstances leading up to the granting of the two orders of injunction on December 19 and December 23 the report says:

"Your committee has no hesitation in declaring that the orders rendered were a gross abuse of the power of the court; were supported by neither reason nor authority; were beyond the jurisdiction of the judge, and were therefore void. The fear from suspension of traffic of an attending damage to the road and inconvenience to the public, were the sole reasons for the action which the judge took. Your committee also finds that no measures looking to a strike had been inaugurated, nor does any seem to have been in contemplation, nor does it appear that any of the persons named or referred to in the writs of injunction have remained in the service of the company against their will.

"Your committee does not concur in the opinion of the judge that the decisions rendered in the Toledo cases by Judges Taft and Ricks at all support his contention in the case under consideration. On the contrary, both of the cases clearly recognize the principle that courts of equity can not enforce the specific performance of the contract for personal services by writs of injunction and other processes, but that in such cases the remedy is at law by an action for damages. If employees have the lawful right to combine in a strike for the purpose of forcing compliance with their demands or securing the highest wages and best terms possible, that right can not be remedied by the fact that its exercise levies on the interest of others. Should violence be done to the person or property of the employer by those who have combined against him by intimidation, threats or other unlawful means, these acts are not wholly unlawful, but would constitute violations of the criminal laws and be punishable as such.

"Your committee finds nothing in the testimony or see any corrupt intention on the part of the judge to render these orders. It is altogether possible that he is sincere in the conviction that he has properly exercised the equity jurisdiction of his court in preventing loss and damages which would have resulted from a lawful strike against the Northern Pacific Railroad company. This view of the case prevents us from recommending any proceedings looking to his impeachment, but in order that there may be no further excuse for the rendition of any such orders or decrees and that the courts of equity of the United States may not be deceived as to the extent of their powers in enforcing contracts for personal services by legal process, we recommend the enactment of a statute which will prevent them from doing so.

"We also feel constrained to call attention to the abuses which have grown up under the powers assumed by the judges of the courts of the United States to appoint receivers for railroad corporations. Your committee is of the opinion that the cases for which a receivership may be ordered in the courts of the United States should be declared by statute.

Many Hungarians Start Home.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 5.—The entire plant of the Carrie furnaces at Keating, Pa. closed down as a result of the strike of the coal miners. The plant employs 700 men. Nearly 250 Hungarians left for New York to wait for a European bound vessel.

ELECTION FRAUDS CAUSE ARRESTS.

CHICAGO BALLOT BOX FILLERS UNDER THE BAN.

Cook County Grand Jury This Morning Returned Indictments Against a Large Number of Judges' Clerks and Other Officers Who Served During the Last Municipal Election.

CHICAGO, May 5.—[Special]—The grand jury this morning returned a large number of indictments against the judges and clerks of the late municipal election for frauds practiced in behalf of the democratic candidates.

HOW COXEY LOOKED IN COURT.

The General Was Not Allowed to Have a Special Trial.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Jacob S. Coxe and his lieutenants, Carl Browne and Christopher Columbus Jones, were star attractions in the district police court yesterday, where they were arraigned for violation of the capitol grounds act on May 2. The courtroom was filled with spectators, populist members of congress constituting a notable part of the assemblage. Attorneys Hymann and Lipscomb appeared for the defendants in the preliminary proceedings and raised the issue of constitutionality of the law under which their clients were arrested.

The point was argued at considerable length by Senator Allen of Nebraska. Congress, he said had no power to confer upon the Vice-President and the speaker of the house the right to suspend the enforcement of the act, any more than it had the right to confer the power upon the czar of all the Russias. He denounced the courts for assuming legislative functions. The case, the senator declared, would assume a national importance. He quoted magna charta and American revolutionary history, and declared that the arrest of the defendants implied a denial of the rights of peaceable assemblage and petition. Those rights were implied in the constitution as regarded every spot in the District of Columbia just as much as in California, Texas or Florida.

Judge Miller, after the arguments closed, overruled the objections of counsel for the defense to the information, the judge holding that the capitol grounds act was constitutional. He also denied Coxe a special trial. A jury will be ready tomorrow.

KELLY MUST SHIFT FOR HIMSELF.

Gov. Jackson and Des Moines Laboring Men Have Done All They Can.

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 5.—The efforts made by Gov. Jackson to secure transportation for the Kelly army or to render it assistance from the state have failed and he has notified the relief committee that he could do nothing more. A meeting of the executive council was held and the question of appropriating money from the state funds to help the commonwealers was considered. Auditor McCarthy and Treasurer Beeson opposed it on account of lack of authority and the plan was dropped. Many men are deserting the camp. Pressure is being brought to bear upon Superintendent Goodrich of the Keokuk & Western to induce him to reconsider his refusal to haul the army. The route by his road to Keokuk is deemed the only one available now.

Valparaiso Warns Gen. Randall.

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 5.—Gen. Randall arrived at Hobart with his army at 10 o'clock yesterday. The army proceeded to confiscate all the bread and crackers in town and there was considerable rioting in the ranks. The resolutions passed by Valparaiso citizens last night demanding that Randall's army be prohibited from entering this city, were handed to Randall, but he said they would march into Valparaiso this evening just the same. There is much feeling here and aid has been refused the army.

A committee of leading citizens left for Hobart yesterday to induce Randall's army to disband and return to Chicago. If they refuse the committee will notify them that entrance to this city will be denied and force asked if necessary to prevent their coming.

Fry Wants Mules.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 5.—Gen. Fry telegraphed to Texas for 1,000 mules to be shipped to Cincinnati, where he expects to meet them in a few days. He will leave Indianapolis Sunday morning for Cincinnati if the weather be fair, but refuses to say by what means. The army is in a pitiful condition. Many of the men are without shoes, half clad, and starvation stares them in the face. The railroads and newspapers are denounced and an appeal is made for food and clothing.

Fatal Fire at Rochester, N. Y.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 5.—Mrs. Margery McIntyre, aged 73 years, was burned to death in the Glenn house, which was destroyed early to-day.

Commonwealers Fed at New York.

NEW YORK, May 5.—The Massachusetts commonwealers will resume the march toward Washington to-day. The people's party and the labor party furnished food.

OUTLOOK FOR TRADE.

There is Promise of an Increased Consumption of Wool.

NEW YORK, May 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Trade Review to-morrow says: "A point of encouragement is the heavy buying of wool amounting to 5,492,600 pounds for the week at three chief markets, against 4,661,900 last year. In April sales were 21,838,958 pounds, against 16,998,950 last year. As those sales have for years been in steady relation to the entire consumption of wool it is fair to infer that in spite of the stoppage of some important works and in spite of uncertainties as to labor and as to legislation consumption will continue large for some weeks at least.

The enormous unsold stock of wheat, which has made a lower average of prices in February, March and April than was ever known in any previous month, has depressed May wheat to the lowest point on record, although western receipts were only 1,080,736 bushels, against 2,485,050 last year, an Atlantic exports 1,143,285 bushels, against 1,518,910 bushels last year. The decline for spot has been slight, with no change for July. Corn yielded a quarter, exports falling suddenly below, while western receipts nearly doubled last year's, and pork products were lower. Cotton speculators, who have seen larger receipts from plantations in April than a year ago, have lost faith and grip with favoring accounts of acreage planted, and the price declined an eighth.

The most encouraging sign is the marked decrease in liabilities of firms failing which were only $1,448,144 for the last week of April, and for four weeks $8,722,708 of which $3,722,220 were of manufacturing and $4,644,367 of trading concerns. The amount of liabilities at the south was $2,919,419, against $3,111,032 in eastern and $2,692,257 in western states. The failures this week have been 233 in the United States, against 216 last year, and thirty-five in Canada, against twenty-seven last year.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

Change Made in Favor of the Inner Docks at Michigan City.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The house went into committee of the whole yesterday for the purpose of considering the river and harbor bill (Mr. Hatch in the chair). The appropriation for the outer harbor at Michigan City, Mich., was reduced from $16,000 to $11,000, and the sum taken from this appropriation was added to the appropriation for the inner harbor at the same point, making it $10,000.

Mr. Walker (rep., Mass.) and Mr. McCreary (dem., Ky.) got into a tariff discussion in which each charged the other with knowing nothing about the tariff question. The chairman finally called them both to order.

Mr. Catchings asked unanimous consent that the house should continue in session after 5 o'clock for the purpose of completing consideration of the river and harbor bill, and he would ask that when the house adjourned it would be until Monday. This was agreed to, and shortly after 6 o'clock the committee reported the bill to the house and it was passed. Thereupon a recess was taken until 8 o'clock for the consideration of private pension bills.

The evening session adjourned at 5:40 p. m.

Work of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The open session of the senate yesterday lasted only until 5 o'clock. The time was consumed entirely by Mr. Quay, who gave another chapter of his serial speech on the tariff. Mr. Gallinger remained by his side constantly, relieving the Pennsylvania at frequent intervals by reading such extracts as Mr. Quay desired to insert in his remarks. The rest of the day after 2 o'clock was spent behind closed doors considering executive business. At 5:30 the senate adjourned.

May Name a Senator To-Day.

LANSING, Mich., May 5.—Gov. Rich has decided two important matters in connection with the appointment of a successor to the late Senator Stockbridge. One is that the appointment will be made to-day and the other that it will go to the western part of the state. Who it will be is all speculation.

Congress May Adjourn Early.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Congressmen are talking in a sanguine mood of the early adjournment of congress. Some fix the date about the middle of June, others at July 4, and the less hopeful predict that it will be August before an adjournment is reached.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS

Nominate a Full State Ticket for Illinois.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 5.—The prohibition state convention, which in all respects was a great success and in many ways a very remarkable political body, completed its work yesterday. The members are now many of them on the way to their homes. The session of yesterday was red-hot and things were kept moving rapidly from the start. Thursday was all eloquence and song, yesterday concentrated business and short, snappy and decisive debate, generally limited to five-minute speeches. H. B. Ripley, of Effingham was made permanent chairman and the temporary secretaries were made permanent. The following nominations were made by acclamation:

United States senator—Dr. J. G. Evans of Abingdon.

State treasurer—J. W. Puterbaugh of Mackinaw.

State superintendent of public instruction—Nicholas T. Edwards, of Kewanee, who is a son of Dr. Richard Edwards, late state superintendent and the author of the Edwards law.

Trustees of University of Illinois—Mrs. Rena Michaels-Atchison, former dean of the Women's college of Evanston, and Mrs. A. E. Sanford of Bloomington and Charles H. Merritt of Mason City, alumnus of the University of Illinois.

The platform adopted is along the same lines as for years past. It favors the calling of a non-partisan commission to consider the tariff and take the question out of party politics; declares that all money should be issued direct by the government and be full legal tender for all debts despite all contracts; favors unlimited coinage of gold and silver, no bonds to be issued in times of peace, but postal savings banks should provide safe deposit; favors extension of the civil service system and various reforms in it; favors vigorous amendment of the immigration laws; opposes alien possession of lands, acquisition of land by monopolies and favors forfeiture of railway grants; demands the suppression of trusts; favors compulsory education and opposes division of school funds; favors free text books; demands one day of rest in seven.

Arrested and Barred.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., May 5.—An order has been received from General Manager Case of the Great Northern that no employes arrested for maliciously injuring the company's property, abandoning trains between stations, and willfully imperiling lives of passengers on the company's trains, or aiding in delaying the mails in the late strike, could go to work until their cases are thoroughly investigated, but that the balance of the men could return to work without prejudice.

Breckinridge Goes to Kentucky.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 5.—Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge arrived at his home last night to begin what promises to be the hottest campaign ever fought out on this historic ground. When he shook out his silver mane on the car platform he was greeted by 500 citizens, who gave him a hearty cheer and pressed forward to shake his hand. The campaign will be commenced at once.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Before leaving Washington Col. Breckinridge said he would make a couple of other addresses besides the one at Lexington before returning to the capital with a view to ascertaining the feeling entertained for him by his constituents.

Destructive Worm Appears.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., May 5.—A strange green worm measuring from a quarter to half an inch in length, has lately made its appearance in this county among the fields of growing clover. The worms appear in countless numbers and when once they attack a clover field they continue in their destructive work until every vestige of the blossoms and leaves is eaten up. No one here has been able to determine the origin of the pest.

LETTER FROM G. L. CARRINGTON

He Tells the Way Sanspareil Affected Him—A Quick Cure.

The following letters which passed between George L. Carrington and D. D. Bennett, director of one of the Sanspareil Companies, explain themselves:

CLINTON, WIS. APRIL 28, 1894. MR. GEORGE L. CARRINGTON—MY DEAR SIR:—I am in receipt of your personal letter strongly endorsing "Sanspareil." I should be very glad to see the same in type for the benefit of suffering humanity. Will you kindly grant permission to have the same published. Yours very truly, D. D. BENNETT.

JANESVILLE, MAY, 3, 1894, D. D. BENNETT. DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 26th of April before me. I am willing you shall publish my letter to which you refer, if it will be of any benefit to you, although the same was written for your personal perusal only. Yours very truly, GEORGE L. CARRINGTON.

DANIEL D. BENNETT, AGENT MCCHESNEY MEDICINE CO. DEAR SIR:—As you are aware I have disposed of my interest in the McChesney Medicine Company and am in no way interested therein.

You ask me to give you my opinion of and experience with "Sanspareil." While I was yet secretary of said company Mr. Bliss, the manager, gave me a bottle of this remedy.

Thirty-seven years ago I broke a bone in my foot and as it was not properly set and cared for I have been lame ever since. I have had a constant pain; sometimes more, sometimes less, for the whole thirty-seven years, in the ankle. Three weeks ago I commenced the use of the "Sanspareil" night and morning, and for two weeks past my foot has been entirely free from pain. In the year past I have used quarts of liniments and lotions to relieve this foot but have never had any permanent help before. I am "lame" without the old ache, but if I knew "Sanspareil" would do for the foot what it has done already, and the price was twenty-five dollars per bottle, I should buy it gladly. I have heard of a good many good results from the use of this remedy, but for what it has done in my case I don't have to rely on hearsay. It is most certainly the most wonderful liniment of which I know anything about and everybody ought to thank the Rev. Dr. Requa for introducing it through the company which you represent.

I am sure that Mr. Bliss and his associates "struck it rich" when they "got hold" of this superb article. And now friend Bennett, let me congratulate you on your connection with the McChesney Company and their goods.

This letter is for you personally as you will understand. Yours very truly, GEO. L. CARRINGTON.

BLAZE IN J. M. BOSTWICK'S HOUSE
Curtain Blows Against a Gas Jet With Serious Results.

J. M. Bostwick's home on Court street narrowly escaped serious damage by fire the other evening. Mr. Bostwick was just coming up from downtown when he heard the hired girl scream: "The house is on fire. Bob's room is all ablaze." The gas jet had been left in close proximity to the window curtains, the window being open. A little wind blew the curtains into the gas flame and a fire that threatened much damage was started. The curtains were destroyed as was the carpet on the floor, and the room was considerably disfigured by the smoke.

PARIS WILL STAND THE LOSS
Oak Lawn Hospital Will Not be Called on to Pay Operative Bills.

There will be no debts left for the hospital in consequence of the operative engagement. The expenses were all assumed by George S. Paris and if there is any loss Mr. Paris expects to settle it himself and the hospital will not be called upon to pay a cent, as they had nothing whatever to do with the production except to receive the profits if there were any. The bills have not yet all been paid. There is a reduction being made in some of them and Mr. Paris hopes to be able to settle with the sum on hand.

SHALL THE FOURTH
BE MADE A HUMMER?

BUSINESS MEN TO TALK IT OVER MONDAY.

President Vankirk Arranges for the Discussion of Several Important Subjects at the Meeting of the Association—Water Works Grievances Have Not Yet Been Aired.

"Shall we celebrate Fourth of July in a becoming manner?" will be discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Janesville Business Men's association on Monday evening. Last year the national holiday was allowed to pass in this city without a demonstration of any kind on the part of the people, and people generally regretted it, resolving that such would not be the case another year. There is no reason why Janesville people should not observe the day, and provide amusement for people of the entire county. Everything is favorable for an enthusiastic crowd of people gathering in Janesville on the Fourth, and it is proper that the Business Men's association should take the matter in hand, appoint a hustling committee on arrangements, and see that no time is wasted in arranging the details. Only two months remain for getting up a celebration. The people will appreciate something new in the way of attractions and time should be given to perfect all the details. Should such a celebration be resolved upon, Janesville will see the largest crowd of Rock county people she has held in years. Let the business men start the patriotic ball rolling Monday night and keep it moving until the arrangements are all completed for the best celebration ever witnessed in the state.

SHE HURRIED ON TO JANESVILLE
Sudden Illness Did Not Prevent Her Making the Trip.

It was Mrs. J. E. Pierce of Milwaukee, who gave birth to a child on the Jefferson Junction depot platform while on her way to Janesville. She was taken to the hotel and Dr. Brewer of Jefferson, was immediately called who attended her and instructed her to remain where she was for a week or more. The Jefferson Banner says: "But the next day the lady decided to continue her journey and accordingly left for Janesville. Some day that lady may wonder why she is not in better health."

MEAN TO HOLD OUR MARKET.

The interesting suggestion contained in foreign dispatches the e days is that the British manufacturers are preparing, in confident anticipation of the democratic tariff bill becoming law, to rush goods into the American market at prices much lower than the same classes of goods can be made for here, with the intention to seriously cripple or drive out of business the American manufacturers. If successful in accomplishing this, and the British manufacturers can afford to lose heavily for a time in order to accomplish it, as soon as they shall have secured control of this market or obtained such a foothold here as they believe to be safe, they will advance the price of their goods and compel the American consumers to pay as much or more than they do at present.

The salvation of the manufacturers of Great Britain largely depends upon their being able to greatly enlarge their trade with this country, and they see in the pending tariff bill the promise of doing this. Can any rational man doubt that they will make every possible effort to improve to the fullest extent their opportunity if the proposed legislation favoring them is enacted.

THE PATCH WORK IN DANGER

Senator Mills' dissatisfaction with the concessions which his friends are making to Senators Brice, Smith, Hill and the other democratic foes of the tariff bill in its present shape is natural enough. The compromisers, indeed, are making dangerous surrenders. In winning over the half doz-enemies of the income tax they may lose three or four times as many men who think that tax the only part of the bill worth voting for.

The British manufacturers under stand fully that in order to obtain here the foothold they desire they must break down the American manufacturers. This means a costly contest, but they are prepared to make it, because they also understand that if they can get possession of this market to the extent they wish, they could retrieve their losses with interest.

History repeats itself. It was a hundred and five years ago last Monday since the inauguration of Washington, and a St. Louis paper suggests that by a singular coincidence it will be a hundred and four years from the fourth of March, 1897, until the inauguration of a democratic successor to Grover Cleveland.

Instead of considering propositions to inflate the currency, congress would do much better to devise means for giving circulation and usefulness to the vast amount of money that is now lying idle in the banks because nobody wants to borrow it at any rate.

Everything points to a trade revival as soon as the tariff tinkering is ended. Gold shipments are much more in our favor than they were in 1893.

This year the balance against us is $13,000,000 while last year at this time it was over $40,000,000.

Democrats do not lack for level-headed leaders. Having legislated with John Sherman in finance, and with Thomas B. Reed in parliamentary usage, they are now receding from free trade into modified McKinleyism.

If the strikes were ended and the tariff bill were out of the way, either by defeat or passage, that long looked for business boom might set in.

Washington Crew Sidetracked.

TACOMA, Wash., May 5.—The com-monwealers who took a Northern Pacific train are sidetracked at Palmer and United States marshals have gone to take charge. The plan of the commonwealers now is to steal their way to Spokane in small squads, making that city their rendezvous and then to proceed east via the Great Northern.

PASTOR GOT A CHECK FOR $172.25

Donation Party with a Substantial Annex Last Evening

A very enjoyable gathering took place at the beautiful country home of William Menzies, on Rock Prairie, last evening. It was a donation party given for the benefit of their pastor, Rev. S. G. Huey. The house was packed to overflowing. Janesville, Milton and several other places sent a large delegation. A very elaborate supper was served during the evening and all were ready to do their share in disposing of the good things.

The pastor was presented with a check for $172.25. Mr. Huey in a few words thanked the people for their gift and assured them that they would never regret a gift if it was given in a good cause. The evening was very enjoyably spent in a sociable way.

HER CRUEL REVENGE.

He Had His Letters Back, But They Were Savagely Improved.

"Oh, Eleanor! I am so glad to find you here. I went up to your house and your mother said you had come here to be fitted;" and as Eleanor grasped her hand the dressmaker frowned, for she didn't want the fit of the new gown interfered with.

"Well, Daisy," said Eleanor, "I am glad, too, for I see it in your eyes that you've something to tell me!"

"Yes, I have, and it's rich. Well, this morning I went over to see Kit, and I ran right up to her room, as we always do, you know."

"Yes," assented Eleanor.

"And she was crying. All around her on the floor were letters. I said, 'Mersey, Kit, what's the matter? Every little while she would make a vicious jab at a letter and appear to be writing.'

"Oh, Daisy, I am most wild, I'm so busy."

"What are you doing?" I asked.

"Well," said Kit, "you know Clarence and I have had a quarrel—and I'm glad of it, and here she sobbed the gladdest kind of a sob, and—he sent all my letters back—and the silver hat marker—and the lovely pipe I gave him with his name engraved on it—and—oh, Daisy, I can't use any of them—how can I?—and—so I'm getting his letters ready to return—I'm—I'm correcting them." And then she laughed and made another jab with the pen.

"Correcting them?" I gasped.

"Yes, ma'am—correcting them. You know Clarence is a terrible speller, so I have gone over every letter in red ink, and made him see that it was intentional. Humph! I'll bet he won't tell another man he broke it off!"

"I couldn't help laughing, but wasn't it a fine revenge?"

Queer Ways of Rooks.

Among the odd habits of rooks is the way that members of the same rookery have of intermarrying generation after generation. The males always choose their near neighbors, and if one should be so bold as to bring home to his rookery a bride from a distance, the other rooks will invariably refuse to receive her, and will force the pair to build some way off. In the neighborhood of big rookeries outlying nests of this kind may always be found.

In a German medical journal Dr. P. Furbinger treats of the peanut as an article of food rich in albumen, of which it contains 47 per cent, together with 19 per cent of fat and non-nitrogenous extractive matter. He recommends the use of roasted peanuts in the form of soup or mush. On account of their cheapness peanuts are recommended as a popular article of food, especially in poorhouses and the like. Moreover, they are recommended as an article of food for the corpulent, for diabetics and for the subjects of kidney disease, in the last mentioned of whom foods rich in animal albumen are to be avoided.

PRISON FOR A YEAR BELOIT BOYS' FATE.

FOUR SERVANTS OF SIN BEFORE JUDGE PHELPS.

Woman's Rights Gets a Helping Hand in the La Shell Case—McKivett and Tobin Given Twelve Months Apiece in the Penitentiary—Other Matters Before the Courts.

Four evil doers were "come up with" by stern browed Justice in Judge Phelps' court today.

The sacred cause of woman's rights also got a boost.

Michael Tobin and William McKivett, two young men from Beloit, were arraigned for trial first, on charge of burglarizing C. R. Robinson's saloon. J. W. Bates was at hand to defend them, but before there had been a consultation both withdrew their former pleas of "not guilty" and pleaded "guilty." Each went to Waupun for one year from noon today, the first two days to be solitary confinement.

Next came Patrick Mulcairns and Louis O'Rourke, charged with "holding up" George Trenwith. The examination was continued until Monday.

Girl Got The Lighter Sentence.

George Baltzer and Emma LaShell, charged with obtaining goods under false pretenses, were arraigned. They changed their pleadings and both said they were guilty. The girl appears to be in bad luck as well as in bad company. They do not live in Freeport as first reported by them, but in Orangeville, Wisconsin, the girl's mother being an inmate of the Green county poorhouse. Baltzer undertook to shift all blame in relation to obtaining the goods upon his partner, but the court did not believe his story, insisting that he was to be blamed more than the girl, and exemplified this by pronouncing a sixty days sentence on the man and thirty days on the girl.

MISS BOWLES STILL ON DUTY.

Her Removal Held to Be Clearly Against Civil Service Rules.

Miss Mellie Bowles still retains her position in the postoffice and has not been formally notified of her dismissal. There is every probability that Postmaster Wilson will be brought up with a short turn if he attempts to carry out his plan. Miss Bowles is admitted to have been thoroughly efficient and faithful. No charge is made against her, the change being justified only on the ground of political expediency. In case it is made, however, an appeal will be made by ex Postmaster Bowles to the civil service commission. The office is under the control of that commission, and treating it as a party plum does not go down well. When Mr. Bowles went into office the Janesville post office was not disturbed. He now proposes to find out whether the law that he respected is merely an empty form void of effect.

HOME OPERA COMPANY RANK HIGH

The Beloit Free Press Classes Them in with Professionals.

Janesville's home opera company won warm praise in Beloit. The Free Press commends the performance in half a column and says: "The opera was a surprise as well as a pleasant entertainment, for even with the known ability of the Janesville home company, it was hardly expected that such a good performance could be given by other than a professional company. The performance as a whole compared favorably with any comic opera ever given in Beloit by either professionals or amateurs."

Janesville figures as a Gretna Green in the latest Jefferson story. If they were not married Tuesday they certainly will be some time this week. Frank is the oldest son of Mrs. C. Stoppenbach. Miss Goerling, probably now Mrs. Stoppenbach, has for many years made her home with the groom's mother. The couple, if they are married at this date, have the best wishes of their numerous and true friends in this city. We understand a wedding tour will be made, and that they will return to Jefferson in about two weeks."

BABY STRUCK DOWN BY A HORSE'S HOOF.

LITTLE SON OF FRED KARL BADLY HURT.

Concussion of the Brain Results From the Child's Fall Under the Feet of a Horse Driven By S. A. Chase—Injuries Serious But the Child Will Recover.

Fred Karl's three year old boy was run down and badly hurt on Park avenue last night. The baby was playing in the middle of the street, and as Stewart A. Chase and F. R. Pendleton came along in a buggy he ran out of the way. He was clear of all danger when some children on the other side of the street called. Turning as if confused the youngster stumbled forward and was directly under the horse's feet before Mr. Chase could realize what had happened. One iron shod hoof was planted fairly in the child's face and another struck his shoulder. Mr. Chase sprang from the buggy, took the little one to the Karl home at the foot of Park avenue and sent for Dr. Pember. A cut an inch and a half long was found above the eye, another below the eye and several bruises on back, chest and arms. Concussion of the brain was manifest to-day but Dr. Pember thought the little boy would recover.

Putnam Bros. were notified by their landlord, J. M. Bostwick, this morning, that he would commence to remodel the building they occupy June 1, and that it must be vacated by that time. In order to get the furniture out of there, Messrs. Putnam Bros. propose to sell it. In order to do so they will cut everything to pieces. Not one article will stand a show; everything must go and that within the next thirty days. Now is the time one can buy furniture cheap. Watch this paper Monday for a large announcement. Their sacrifice sale opens Monday morning. They have ordered every salesman in the house not to let a person leave, to sell the stuff and that quick.

TITCOMB SAYS SHAW SO DO MANY OTHERS

FAMOUS PIANISTS PRAISE THE GAZETTE PRIZE.

Everybody Who Has Examined the Instrument at S. C. Burnham & Co.'s Says the Things Said in Its Favor Were Justified—Conditions of the Contest.

Everybody in Janesville knows Professor Charles Titcomb. His judgment on pianos would be taken by anybody.

What he thinks of the Shaw, the piano offered by the Gazette, is shown by his choice of that instrument over all other uprights in the market. He uses it in recitals and his preference is admitted by St. Paul musicians to be well founded. Here is one of the letters to the St. Paul agents of the Shaw company:

ST. PAUL, MINN., NOV. 8, 1893, S. W. RAUDENBUSH & CO. DEAR SIRS:—Owing to the fact that Miss — refuses to give up her possession of our hall for this evening we have been compelled to postpone the recital till the 31st. I thank you many times for your kindness. Professor Titcomb was completely captivated with the Shaw piano the other evening. Yours truly, W. Allison, Financial Secretary, Y. M. C. A.

That Mr. Titcomb is not alone in his praise of the Shaw is proven by a forty-page pamphlet issued by Raudenbush & Co. and containing the most complimentary letters as to the Shaw's quality. There is no reason to doubt that this instrument ranks in the markets of the country just as Chickering's, Steinways and Knabes, the four occupying first place. Everybody who has seen the Gazette piano is enthusiastic in its praise. It has a pure ringing tone, and its action is very fine. These qualities are what would be expected of a Shaw piano and the Gazette made no mistake in choosing that instrument.

Friends of contestants show a lively interest in the success of their favorites and votes are coming in rapidly. New subscribers should be reported as fast as secured, but coupons should be tied in bundles of one hundred each and kept until the day the competition closes. Votes have been cast up to date, for the following candidates:

From now until the contest closes a coupon will be printed in each issue of the Gazette.

1. Any one, anywhere in any state is entitled to vote as often as they buy a copy of The Janesville Gazette containing the above ballot.

2. Cut the ballot out (trimming on the dotted lines) Write in the name of your candidate and enclose same in an envelope addressed to Ballot Editor, Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

3. Only one person can be voted for on one ballot.

4. The lady who receives the largest number of votes will receive as good and beautiful a piano as the Shaw Piano Company can make.

5. The contest will close June 30, 1894. Piano will be delivered as soon as the counting of votes is completed.

The polls will close at 9:00 p. m., June 30, but votes handed in before this will be duly credited. The contest will be conducted strictly "on the square." No partiality or unfair advantage will be taken or allowed in any case.

Are Buying Pianos Like the Gazette's.

Two wealthy Janesville men who intended to buy pianos made by a noted Boston factory had their attention called to the Shaw by the announcement of The Gazette's offer. After careful examination of the instruments at Burnham & Co.'s they have decided in favor of a Shaw.

That Tells What Sort of Instrument We Offer.

The Shaw is undoubtedly the finest piano made today in America, and is so considered by other piano manufacturers, piano tuners, piano teachers and the music ally informed. The young lady who wins The Gazette prize will have a piano to be proud of. Here are testimonials from piano tuner, teacher of the voice, and oratorio singer. Others will follow:

ST. PAUL MINN., May 1, 1892.—GENTLEMEN—As compared with other first-class instruments, the Shaw piano has the charming characteristics of each—all in one. Not a break in the scale. No rattling of the action. Never harsh nor metallic in tone. Stays in tune. Such is my admiration for the piano that I would not trade, "even up" for any upright made. My own Shaw has not required any attention during the past year and is in almost perfect tune now.
Yours respectfully,
FRED. LEAVITT.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 2, 1892.—GENTLEMEN—I am extremely pleased with the Shaw piano which I purchased of you. I have used it for some months and consider it a superior instrument. Its clear full tone and elastic touch is a delight not only to myself, but to my many musical friends, its sweet singing quality being especially noticeable, and I shall be pleased to recommend it to my pupils, etc. I am
Yours respectfully,
OSCAR L. LIENAU.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 19, 1892.—GENTLEMEN—The Shaw Piano is a source of great pleasure to me. If I were not captivated by the noble quality of its tone as a solo instrument, I certainly should as a perfect instrument for vocal accompaniment. Its particularly fine sympathetic singing quality, and the absence of all harshness of tone, give peculiar pleasure to the singer—the song and the accompaniment blending most admirably. It is a source of inspiration.
Yours faithfully, CHARLES DELACY.

SOME TURF TOPICS OF TIMELY SORT.

CANDIDATES FOR THE BIG BROOKLYN HANDICAP.

The Tendency to Offer Big Purses for Two-Year-Olds and Three-Year-Olds Has a Bad Effect on the Four and Over Classes.

THE PUBLIC HAVE heard and read for months past of the doings of the cracks of two and three-year-old divisions, and have had their respective merits compared by most of the turf critics of both the east and west, but to the older horses little attention has been paid, and yet the majority of the best contested races of the year are struggles between that class of horses.

The Brooklyn, Suburban and Metropolitan handicaps are of course the most talked of events of the all-aged division, yet they do not begin to give an idea of the excellent races that are furnished during the course of a season by those who can qualify as "four-year-olds and upward."

I heard a well-known trainer say the other day that all horses were unreliable until they were four-year-olds, and he certainly should know what he was talking about, for he has handled some of the best stables in the land; yet the records would hardly bear him out in this assertion, for dozens of cases might be mentioned where two and three-year-olds have shown themselves to be stand-bys of the most reliable kind, going through an entire season without faltering from their place.

There is, however, considerable truth in this reason for doubt as to the worth of a young horse, for how frequently we see a good 2-year-old prove worthless as a 3-year-old, and at other times a no-account 2-year-old develops into a high-class 3-year-old; and even as 4-year-olds we have seen some very marked changes from the form of previous years.

Once the age of four is reached, however, a horse may be placed in his or her proper class, and there they will remain until old age or hard usage begins to tell on them.

The rich prizes that are now offered in 2-year-old races have a tendency to deteriorate both the number and class of our old horses, for colts and fillies that are raced off their feet before they are fully matured can not be expected to improve as they grow older. Luckily there are some few owners and trainers who realize this and spare their 2-year-olds, for there is still some good material left for the all-aged events, and a glance at some of the veterans who will do battle during the coming season is sure to be of interest.

Mike Dwyer's string includes a very fine collection of old-time stars, and every one of them will probably win many brilliant victories before the season ends.

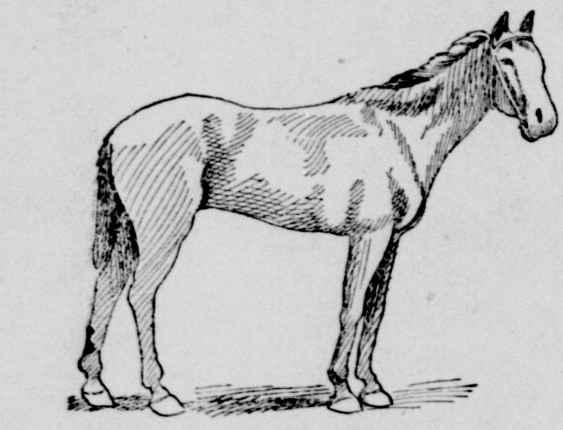

Kingston, whose great speed has at times enabled him to sweep all before him, is going along in good style, and while declining years have dulled his merit as a sprinter, he is still a tough customer to handle at any distance under a mile.

Raceland looks and moves as spry as a 2-year-old, and, barring accidents, is sure to earn his full share of the season's honors. Those who have watched him since he was a 2-year-old all agree that he carries more flesh now than at any time in his career, and predict that the coming season will prove him a better horse than he has ever been.

Banquet is another of the bearers of the "all white with gold tassel" that will have considerable to say among the all age division. His form of last season and of the year previous was little short of first class, and many expect to see him come out and repeat that form.

The list of four-year-olds is an especially strong one, with Don Alonzo, Sir Walter Clifford, Ajax, Helen Nichols, G. W. Johnson, Miss Maud, Annie Bishop, Sport, Chattanooga, St. Domingo, Redskin, St. Leonards, Prince George, Sir Francis O'Connell, Liseig, Lady Violet, Rainbow, Ramano, Kinglet, Cactus, Lustre, Ducat and Bassettlaw are but a few of those who were freely entered in the various all-age stakes.

Ajax, Don Alonzo, Clifford, Sport, St. Leonards, G. W. Johnson, Prince George, Ducat and about a dozen more of less prominence are booked to run in the Brooklyn handicap, so the question of supremacy among them is to be put to test the very first day of the season.

The result of the race is generally conceded to be between them, and in the future books that are being made in different parts of the country all have been well supported.

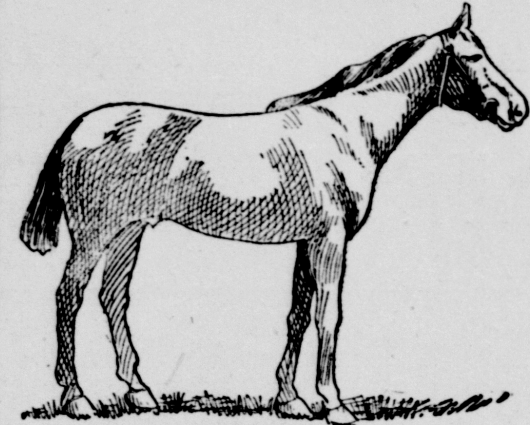

Lamplighter is now a five-year-old, and his appearance in public is eagerly watched for. When Greer Morris turned him over to Jimmy McCormick last fall he was a total wreck, and could hardly have won a selling race at Gloucester. His legs were fired for a while about a month trouble was a slight one, and his let-up was of short duration.

He is now at Clifton, but will be brought over to Gravesend in a few days to prepare for the coming campaign, and from the present indications he will be as good a horse as he was a 3-year-old.

Diabolo, Lowlander, Loantaka, Comanche, Pickpocket, Picknicker, Copyright, Herald, Nero, Little Billy, Pessara, Derfargilla and Roche are also in good shape, and their owners are anxiously waiting for the time when they can be sent to the post, and by public performance show just how good they are.

There is material enough to uphold the all-age part of the various programs. If the 2 and 3-year-olds do as well, the prospects are of the brightest. F. J. R.

A Remarkable Performance.

J. Snell, of the South Australian Bicycle club, Adelaide, has knocked all previous records for long distance riding sky high by riding the 589 miles between Melbourne and Adelaide in 3d. 5h. 42m., the previous best record being 3d. 23h. 51m., by Frank Toms, who, however, rode over a different course, which involved much rough riding and walking, although shorter. Snell left Adelaide at noon on Feb. 20, mounted on a No. 7 "New Rapid," and, by taking a more southerly course than that pursued by Toms, escaped what is known as the "Ninety Mile Desert," a large tract of uninhabited country quite unsuited to bicycling. His choice of route was a judicious one, as, although longer by about ten miles, it was undoubtedly faster.

He traveled by way of Macclesfield, Wellington, to Meningie, 94 miles, which was reached at 9 p. m. At 9:03 a. m. on the following day he made Kingston, 186 miles, and at 10:50 p. m. arrived at Penola, 270 miles, via Lucindale and Narracoorte. By 3:07 p. m., 22, he had covered the 390 miles to Hamilton, riding by way of Mount Gambier and Casterton, and he reached Melbourne, 559 miles, via Colac and Geelong, at 5:42 p. m., on Feb. 23, thus completing the distance in 3d. 5h. 42m. He got through his journey on Dunlop tyres with a solitary puncture. In the course of his ride he was assisted by numerous pacemakers en route, but so fast and strong was he that he knocked thirteen of them out of time.

Captain and Third Baseman.

The above portrait is a good likeness of William Joyce, one of the important figures in the National Base ball league. He is captain and third baseman of the Washington club and ranks first in his class.

ATHLETIC.

H. C. Lakin, '94; N. W. Bingham, '95; H. R. Storrs, '96, and E. Hollister, '97, have been appointed captains of the class athletic teams which contest for the class championships one week from next Monday.

Charles E. Coon, formerly assistant secretary of the treasury, last week telegraphed to Washington from New York city his resignation of the presidency of the Columbia Athletic club of that city. The resignation has been accepted.

Daniel McLeod, the California wrestling champion, was worsted in a catch-as-catch-can at San Francisco, April 14, in a match with Tom McMahon of Detroit. McLeod agreed to throw McMahon three times in an hour, but only succeeded in throwing him twice. This is the second contest between the men, McLeod winning the first.

W. S. Weldon, honorary secretary of the Canadian Amateur Athletic union, has written Secretary Sullivan that the Canadian championships this year will be held on Sept. 23, and asked Mr. Sullivan to see that the dates of the clubs in New York would not conflict, as he is anxious to have New York athletes at the Canadian championship.

The fight between Stanton Abbott and Martin Denny, the light-weight champion of Australia, who were to have met at the National Sporting club, May 21, for £200 pounds a side, has been declared off, and Denny received the forfeit.

Charles Davis, alleged champion of the south and Paddy Moran, an unknown, fought a twenty-seven-round draw recently at Hopefield, Ark. The fight was for $200 and the gate receipts, about $150. Davis weighed about 130 and Moran 140. Moran had the best of the contest, but on account of darkness the fight was called a draw.

UNATTAINED.

When Pan's Siren changed her form To a reed by river's brim, Straight he cut that reed and blew Sounds divinely sweet to him, For he knew the music fine Was the soul of her dear shade. Hour by hour he wooed her well, That she might not wholly fade.

Kept the reed against his lips, And so held her spirit near, If perchance by some strange spell, She repentant reappear. Still he calls upon her name, Counting not his vision gone, But he may not bring to life And her, living, look upon.

Yet he hopes to and so sings, Here and there by tempest tossed. What the heart with love pursues Never can be wholly lost. Die it cannot while we hope. Through a shy, elusive gleam, It must haunt the sunny heights Near the valleys where we dream. —Chicago Record.

A BIT OF NEWS.

"Write for The Times! Do you imagine you went to college for that? You can't write."

"Have you ever given me the chance?"

"No. But I know you couldn't. I dare say you've been counting on doing this, eh?" The younger man bowed.

"And have been laying in a stock of flowing rhetoric and fine spun theories," the elder continued. "Humph! The Times wouldn't pay in a month's time if we fed the public on stuff of that sort. What it wants is food of another kind."

"What's to prevent my providing it as well as the other writers on the staff? Is my college education to be a drawback to me? If it is?"

The sentence was left unfinished, and the elder man silently returned to his work of glancing over some copy spread on the desk before him. When he had finished the last page, he turned to the first and wrote "m. g." across the top.

"What does that mean?" George Stanton inquired.

"Those letters stand for 'must go.'"

"Then whatever bears them goes?"

His uncle surveyed him with a grim smile lighting his face.

"It's apt to," he said dryly.

"Then anything I might write would be printed, regardless of its merit, if you so marked it?"

"Certainly. But you must remember that an uncle indulgent to faults and the proprietor of this paper—a successful business enterprise—are two distinct personalities."

"Which you bear. I understand. But surely literary merit cuts some figure?"

"Um—if the name of the writer who possesses it is well known, it does."

"Not otherwise?"

The elder man shook his head emphatically. "I've no use for 'em."

"Why, that makes out the newspaper of today a money making machine of the lowest order," George Stanton exclaimed indignantly. "The brains of the concern are subservient to the business office."

"Exactly."

There was a pause, during which the younger man tipped back his chair against the wall and gazed abstractedly at the ceiling. At length he brought the legs of the chair to the floor with emphasis.

"I still maintain that it isn't fair that I shouldn't be given a trial," he remarked.

"I suppose you've got a batch of manuscripts all ready to fire at me." The nephew's face flushed. "I thought so. Well, I don't want 'em. Now, see here. What this paper wants isn't rhetoric, it isn't eloquence, it isn't philosophy, it isn't literary merit, as you call it. It's just life—plain, everyday life. I wouldn't publish the most beautiful flight of fancy that was ever written. I've no use for that sort. But life—things near, local, personal—give me those. If you keep your eyes and ears open, you'll find more tragedy in one block of San Francisco than in the whole of Shakespeare."

"Then you give me the chance?"

Frederick Stanton hesitated. "It's open to you the same as it is to all," he replied indifferently. "You would be paid for space work at our regular rates, providing we accepted it. Mind you, I don't say I'll take what you write."

"But if it suits you 'm. g.' it?"

"If it suits," the other repeated a little sarcastically, with a movement which closed the interview.

A week later the young man again presented himself in his uncle's private office.

"I've followed your advice, Uncle Fred, and taken life for my subject." He threw himself into a chair and gave a twist to his head in the direction of the inner door. It was slightly ajar, and he rose and shut it before he resumed.

"You see, what you said about the tragedies of life, and of course I inferred that you meant the comedies as well, being right under our noses, as it were, set me to thinking. Meantime I have found out the true meaning of your mystic letters. Whatever bears them must go in the columns of the next issue, regardless of time, space or other consideration. They are so potent as to require no explanation, no suggestion from the molders of public opinion who preside in the editorial den. Whatever an editor may receive from a proprietor initiated 'm. g.' will be printed, even if it be the death warrant of the entire staff."

"Is this a lecture on the depravity of the press in general, or my own paper in particular?"

"Neither. It is to let you know that I have been further enlightened since we last discussed this subject. I now understand what exists as a mighty factor in the management of a newspaper, and I want you to put it on the top of that."

He tossed some sheets of closely written paper on the desk in front of the other.

"Humph!"

"If I listen I may gather the very material he wants," I said. I listened. Enraptured I flatter myself I've got something spicy and realistic enough to suit even you!"

"I told you that if you wrote anything fit to set up type for it would be judged impartially and paid for at the regular rates."

"It isn't the pay so much," George Stanton replied contemptuously.

"Want to see yourself in print, I suppose. Well, let's see what you've produced." He took up the sheets before him and began to read them. When he had finished, he turned to his nephew in surprise. His eye beamed with the delight begotten of "scoops."

"Well, my boy, that's a corker!" he said heartily. "Where did you get it?"

"Listened and heard some old gossips tell it, as you told me to do. All I know is that it's the escapade of a woman high in 'local social circles,' just as I've said."

"Escapade?" his uncle repeated. "I should call it pretty near being a crime. She goes to a midnight supper during her husband's absence from town, and after conducting herself in a scandalous manner there she escapes when threatened with discovery by personating Mrs. H—, a prominent woman of well known rapid proclivities, has the supper charged to her account, and—um!—she goes a little too far for safety in that escapade."

"Of course I had to exaggerate it a trifle—touch up the high lights, you know."

"And darken the shadows. Well, that's what we want, and you've hit it the first time. Only, if we could give the name of the woman who did it or those of her relatives, it would be stronger. Don't know it, eh?"

"No."

"Well, the name of the woman she personated is enough for one scoop, and we've got that. Perhaps others may know it, and it'll set 'em to talking." He took up his blue pencil and wrote "m. g." at the top of the page. "Perhaps you'll make a newspaper man, after all, in spite of your college education. Who knows?"

George Stanton seized the manuscript and hurried on with it to the editorial den, where he deposited it gleefully upon the top of a pile of papers on the editor's desk. After that, dinner, the theater, supper, followed in succession, and at midnight he tried to possess himself with patience to await the arrival of the paper which would contain his maiden effort in journalism.

An overwhelming disappointment awaited him, for when he unfolded the sheet not a line of his production could he find. After searching several times through the 16 pages of the paper the conviction was forced upon him it had been omitted.

He hastened to his uncle's office, for, although it was Sunday morning, he knew he should find him there.

"My article has been omitted," he announced.

His uncle surveyed the crestfallen countenance before him.

"Omitted? I haven't had time to glance at the paper yet—there's so much of it, but it can't be possible."

"It is though. Here's the paper. Look for yourself."

The proprietor glanced hastily over the sheet.

"I never knew Bacon to do such a thing before in all the 17 years he's been on the paper."

"Where is he?"

"Home, I suppose. I haven't seen him. Ring up the porter and find out."

The man reported that Mr. Bacon had been in his office all night, "walking up and down, sor, strangelike. I axed him wor any one after him, but he said 'No,' kinder absentmindedlike, and wint on walkin up and down."

Frederick Stanton dismissed the man. His words had deepened the mystery.

"I can't understand this at all. Come, George; we will find out what it means."

At the door of the editorial office a haggard face confronted them. Mr. Bacon silently ushered in his visitors and closed the door.

"I sent you some stuff last night, Bacon," said Frederick Stanton, "and I've come to hear your explanation—if you can give one—as to why you kept it back."

The man addressed began to pace the room nervously.

"It was about—a woman," he said finally.

"Well, what of it?" demanded his superior. "Her name wasn't mentioned, though it ought to have been, and if it had been is that any reason why you should scruple to publish what I send in? You've never hesitated before over such a trifle as a woman's reputation."

There was an ominous pause.

"We may as well understand one another first as last," the speaker continued. "It will never do for an editor to doubt the policy of an owner. You would be asking my reasons next. If you are to presume to dictate to me, we may as well sever our connection at once."

The man addressed staggered slightly. His face paled, and a haunted look came into his eyes.

"It was only a woman's reputation that was at stake," he said quietly, "but the woman was—my wife!"

SOME PLAIN SEWING

In a bare, clean, little sky-high room. Pretty, gay, rose-cheeked Elsie Cameron! Not gay, nor rose-cheeked now, but slender, pale and still very daintily fair to look upon. She wore a black gown. A beautiful child clung to her hand.

"Oh, Mrs. Rycliffe!" she cried. The sight of the dear old face was precious after her long exile among strangers. She kissed her guest, drew her in, took off her bonnet, and made her a cup of tea, all the time full of words of welcome, and of inquiry, but not once mentioning her own poverty, which everything in the room proclaimed.

"How are you getting on, is what I want to know," the old lady said, straightforwardly.

"Oh, I manage. I do plain sewing, you know. Sometimes I find it hard to get all I can do, but a week ago a lady called and left me an order that has kept me busy since. She asked my prices for making plain garments, and I mentioned them, but the materials were accompanied by directions for much elaborate work! Of course, I have no doubt she will pay me what my labor was worth. You may see it." She displayed four nainsook dressing-sacques, having insertions of Torchon lace, clusters of tiny tucks, and hemstitched ruffles. Mrs. Rycliffe expressed her admiration.

"What do you ask for them?" "When they are quite plain, twenty-five cents each, but as these have so much work, I thought fifty would not be too much to ask."

"Well! I should think that pretty cheap. Hark!"

There was a step in the passage without.

"That is my customer, I suppose. She said she would call to-day. Don't stir."

But Mrs. Rycliffe vanished behind the cretonne screen that partitioned off the oil-stove and few cooking utensils from the rest of the room. There was a tear in the cretonne, however, and she saw the person who entered, a large, florid woman, attired in a furred cloth skirt, a coat of many capes, a flaring hat on which blackbirds bobbed, and yellow kid gloves.

"Ah! the work is done. Yes, satisfactory—quite. Really, I shall recommend you. A dollar, I believe. There it is."

"Mrs. Pugh," remonstrated the seamstress, "I said I would make those with only ruffles at neck and sleeves for the price named. These are worth at least fifty cents each. The sewing on them has taken me a week."

Her patron turned from the door to freeze her with a stare.

"Ah! an impostor, I see—like all of your class! You make one contract, and demand pay that was not stipulated. I shall not again employ you."

With which appalling threat she swept away.

Little Mrs. Rycliffe came out from behind the screen, white and trembling.

"What a wicked woman, Elsie!" she cried.

Elsie smiled faintly.

"They are not all so unjust," she said, trying to speak cheerily.

Dusk was closing in when Mrs. Rycliffe reached the house of her niece, a showy, imposing house. Her mistress, the servant said, was at the matinee. Would the visitor wait? Mrs. Rycliffe sat down in a chair in a corner of the parlor, waiting, nodded, fell fast asleep. She was awakened by a man's angry tone, demanding with an oath, if he was ever to have any supper. The next instant Medora's voice admonished him.

"You must wait. I've just got in from the matinee. Don't scold. I didn't buy my ticket out of the grocer's money. A woman did four dollars' worth of sewing for me. I paid her, and had a good time out of the amount saved. Why, Aunt—is it Aunt Mary?"

Mrs. Rycliffe rose with a stiff effort. She was cramped and tired.

"I think it is," she replied, dryly.

For four days was Mrs. Rycliffe the guest of Mrs. Pugh. And she saw more than the interview with Elsie, to convince her she was under no obligation to give money or its equivalent to Medora. She saw an extravagant, ill-regulated household, where prevailed all manner of schemes to make a show of opulence, and all kinds of petty subterfuges to evade responsibility and payment of just debts. She saw a selfish man and woman, both devoid of any sense of rectitude and honor. When she announced her intention of going home, Medora said:

"As soon as the weather gets a little warmer, we shall go down to Grassnook, and spend several months with you and dear John."

"I'm afraid I sha'n't have room," the elder woman declared. "Elsie Payne is coming home with me."

"Elsie—Payne!" she repeated, blankly.

"Yes—you've heard of her as Elsie Cameron. She's been doing some plain sewing for you, I believe. I was there the day you called and paid for those sacques."

John was at the train to meet his mother, Elsie, and the child. He kissed his mother, and the baby, and held Elsie's hand a long time.

"I'm glad you have come," he said, simply.

A wave of the old rose-bloom flickered in her pale cheek. She looked up at him, thinking how handsome and manly he had grown.

"Thank you," she said.

There are those that assert that there is to be a wedding at Grassnook, when the May flowers blow. At all events, the quartet there is a very happy one. And if plaintive tales of woe no longer arrive from Medora, the reason is understood.

"If you want to find out a thing," Mrs. Rycliffe says, sagely, as she rocks the little one to sleep, "find it out yourself!"

and give Snowdrop her milk regularly, and see that the shutters are fixed so they don't slam and break the glass. Good-bye, John."

And then she was whirling away to the great city.

"Be you going to New York, Mrs. Rycliffe?" queried a voice behind her.

"Yes," turning to face a neighbor. "You're going to see Sarah Jane's new baby, I suppose, Mrs. Ryan?"

"Yes'm. You ain't forgot Elsie Cameron, I dare say?"

"No," answered Mrs. Rycliffe, stirred by the resentment the thought of Elsie invariably aroused. Why couldn't the girl have married her fine son, and been a daughter to her?

"It 'ud be a charity," declared Mrs. Ryan, "if you'd go to see her. I heard as how her husband was dead, and she had a child to support, and wasn't overstrong. She'd be mighty glad to see you. Here," scribbling a line on a crumpled envelope she fished out of her pocket, "is where Sarah Jane said she lived."

"The poor thing!" ejaculated Mrs. Rycliffe, her kindly spirit touched.

"Yes, I'll go."

When she arrived in New York she gave a cabman both addresses, her niece's and Elsie Payne's.

"Drive me to the nearest first," she ordered.

And the nearest happened to be a tall, dreary tenement-house, in a narrow, dingy street. She found Elsie

THE BLAZER IS BACK.

It Has Partly Routed the Eton Jacket and Shares Public Favor.

Light tan and mode colors are much worn in thin wool goods. Besides covert cloth, cheviot and serge there are several new weaves having a rough finish, with boucle effects in brighter threads, and all wool and silk and wool goods with wide crepon wrinkles. These lightweight materials are made up in various pretty styles. A neat light gray cheviot costume seen the other day had a plain flaring skirt, of which the only trimming was three 3 inch bands of gray velvet arranged vertically on the front breadth. The coat bodice was plain and had a velvet collar and gigot sleeves entirely of velvet. The velvet pocket flaps were lined with light violet silk, as were the flaring velvet cuffs. This gown was worn by a woman verging on middle age. Another more unique costume was composed of thin fawn colored goods and had a perfectly plain skirt. The bodice was a sort of Russian blouse made of the same goods accented plaited. It was belted in, and the basque extended at least 20 inches below the waist.

The blazer, which was superseded in popularity by the Eton jacket, has returned to share the favor accorded to the latter, but appears in more frivolous forms than it wore two years ago. The addition of gigot sleeves, ripple collar, double revers and big buttons changes it greatly, and it is often still further modified by having the basque part cut in large points. The Eton jacket is also somewhat altered from last year's styles, being more trimmed and having more elaborate sleeves. It extends to the bottom of the waist instead of stopping above the belt in the figaro fashion.

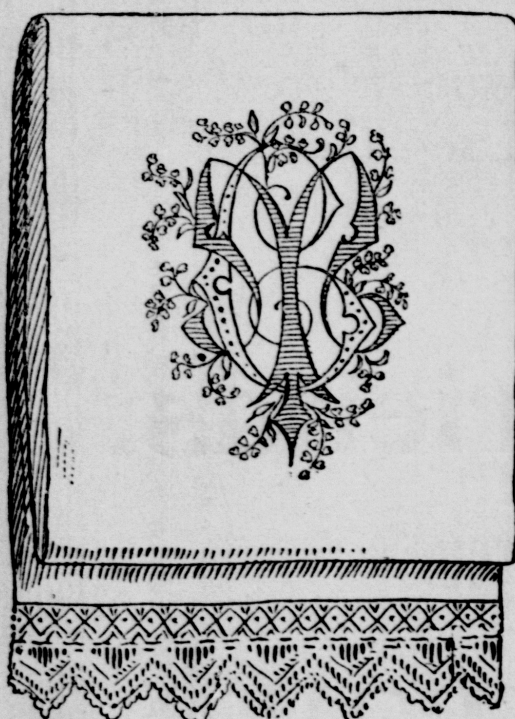

The double skirt is much employed. Sometimes the upper skirt, slightly lifted by a strap or rosette, shows a different skirt beneath, but more often both skirts are of the same material. The subject of today's sketch is a double skirted costume of tan colored summer serge. The over-skirt has a band of stitching around the bottom and is caught up with a brown rosette. The Eton jacket is trimmed with braiding and stitching and has two collars—the first of white cloth, the second of brown moire. The tight sleeves have a circular puff from shoulder to elbow. A blouse of plaid surah in red, yellow and brown on a cream ground is worn and is confined at the waist by a wrinkled belt of moire.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A PAIR OF IDEALIZED SCISSORS.

Judic Chollet Describes Them and Other Articles For Use and Ornament.

Women who seldom touch a needle are usually the ones who indulge in elaborate workbaskets and are most fastidious about the fitting up thereof. The skilled dress-maker uses a pair of shears as long as her arm, a yellow linen tape measure and a steel thimble and keeps her needles in their native paper, but the amateur has a receptacle lined with silk puffings and furnished with all the modern improvements in the way of gold thimbles, silver emery balls and pearl handled bodkins. One of the prettiest additions to this nest of wonders is a pair of silver mounted scissors, the bows of which, instead of being plain utilitarian ovals, are embossed, chased, floriated and intertwined with delicate scrolls. These idealized scissors may be obtained in gold as well as silver by the extravagantly inclined.

The newest thing in fancy lamp shades is a globe covered thickly with chrysanthemum petals in pink or yellow. The petals are of cambric, cut and stamped into the proper form, and they are fastened on a fine wire foundation.

Tiny coin purses are shown in lizard skin and kid, having a stamped decoration in gold and bearing on one side a metal initial enameled in gold and colors. Sterling silver initials in various styles may be purchased separately.

One of the latest novelties is a tiny umbrella strap. It fastens with a shield shaped silver clasp, having an embossed border and a plain middle, on which is engraved a monogram. The strap is just large enough to go around the tips of an umbrella when it is closed.

White corduroy is the reigning favorite at present among materials used for fancy work. Although it defaces very easily, much elaborate embroidery is lavished on it. A dainty robe for a baby carriage is shown, made of this goods, having in the center a monogram at least 8 inches long, worked solidly in shades of gold colored silk. Among the letters are intertwined sprays of forget-me-nots in the natural colors. The robe is bordered with wide lace crocheted in light blue knitting silk. Colored corduroy has been much used for upholstery of late and may be found in art shades for cushion covers.

During the past six months we have sold more Dry Goods than during any other six months since we started in the Dry Goods business.

The past six months have been months of the greatest depression in the Dry Goods trade that were ever known in this country.

Why are we Increasing Our Business under the present conditions of Trade ?

Why

are the People coming to us? Stop a moment and think about this, it may SAVE you some MONEY.

First We have thoroughly grasped the idea ourselves that the people must have stuff cheap this year.

Second We are thoroughly impressing on this community that we are alive to the needs of the people and are most earnestly endeavoring to sell goods at the very lowest possible prices.

Third The idea of economy that is today parading this community is sending us hundreds of new customers, because in times like these, people learn fast where their money buys the most.

Fourth We buy every dollar's worth of goods that comes to us for Spot Cash. We pay no long time prices, we lose no cash discounts. Merchants and business men know what a great saving this is and people who never stop to think of such things can see the good sense of it.

We Ask the Co-Operation of Our Friends.

We Are Going To Keep Hammering Away !
